Designed To Help You
Start Developing Your Local Policies And Procedures Statements
Will Run Through June
Of 2010

There are at least 10 major areas of government finance that require a unique comprehensive written policy and procedures document. Every government should have a written statement that defines your specific internal controls within each of these major financial functions. This must be done so that your external auditor can confirm that those charged with the governance of your organization understand their fiscal responsibilities and that they have implemented the proper internal control systems.

The FAA INSTITUTE now offers local governments with an efficient and low cost means to help you start to resolve your internal control audit findings. Our new "How To Start A Policy & Procedures Manual Workshops" is designed to provide municipal finance officials with a path that leads to fewer internal control findings within your annual management letter.

This new workshop series runs from February through June. Sessions are held on Thursdays in Buzzards Bay, MA from 9:00 AM to 1:00 PM. Three levels are offered. All require attendance at the February 11, 2010 Introduction to Policy & Procedures workshop. The Masters Level provides 3 templates and 10 workshop sessions with a goal of up to 3 policy & procedures documents. The Bachelors Level offers 2 templates and 7 workshop sessions with a goal of up to 2 policy & procedures documents. The Associates Level includes 1 template and 4 workshop sessions with a goal of 1 policy & procedure document. Custom policy and procedure development service is also available.

See the FAA Institute program syllabus for additional details about this new workshop.

"We have adopted and complied with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Board of Public Accountancy Rules and Regulations of Mandatory Professional Education for the Practice of Public Accountancy, and that the program is designed to qualify for up to 40.0 hours of CPE credit".
